PARIS, Sept. 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] One hundred years ago was the first day of the republic following the revolution. Today is also the centennial of the "canonade of Valmy," the first triumph of the republican arms. The events are being celebrated in an appropriate manner. The city is decorated everywhere and thousands of strangers swarm Paris. The exercises at the Pantheon at 10 o'clock were attended by President Carnot and members of the Ministry. Prime Minister Loubet delivered an oration, describing the birth of the republic, he said, would give a pacific solution to social questions. He was followed by Floquet and lastly by President Carnot, the latter being most enthusiastically received. A grand parade took place this afternoon. In one triumphal car were figures of La Fayette and Washington standing hand in hand. The festivities continued throughout the evening. The boulevards were unusually gay. Many balls and parties were held in various parts of the city. Telegrams from Lyons, Marseilles, Rheims and other cities are to the same effect.

FINLAND JUSTICE.

A Woman to Have Her Hand Chopped Off and Then to Be Beheaded.

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 22.—[By Cable and Associated Press.] In April last Mrs. Anna Sina, wife of a professor in the state college at Tavastehus, Finland, was found guilty of poisoning her husband, and, in accordance with medieval law, was sentenced to be beheaded and her body to be affixed to a beacon and burned. She is but 22 years old. She married the professor in 1890 and has one child. She confessed the crime, saying that she poisoned her husband in order to secure his life insurance, as by her negligence she had become largely in debt. Her case was carried to the Court of Appeals and that court not only affirmed it, but has ordered that her right hand be cut off as additional punishment for having several times forged her husband's name to small checks some time before his death. The sentence is a most terrible one and it is thought efforts will be made to get the czar to commute it.

POINTING PACES.

A Mile at the Narragansett Park Track in 2:05 1-5.

PROVIDENCE (R.I.), Sept. 22.—[By the Associated Press.] Almost 40,000 persons who thronged the grounds of the Rhode Island State Fair at Narragansett Pier today came to see Hal Pointer sent over to break his record. Without any special preparation of track, which was cut up by four or five hours' racing, the great side wheeler paced the two fastest consecutive miles ever accomplished. About 2 o'clock Geers gave Hal a mile in 2:31; later another in 2:18, an hour later, accompanied by a runner, Hal started on a tilt against the watch. The quarter was reached in 52 1/2, the half in 1:04, and every one knew the record was safe that trip. From the half Pointer quickened his stride, coming the third quarter in 81 1/2, and the last, which was straight-away, in 31.

About a minute later he started again, this time getting a perfect send-off, every fraction of the mile showing accelerated speed. The runner was a length back and Pointer flashed past the quarter in 32 seconds. Then Hal passed the half in 1:03, and the three-quarters in 1:34 1/2. Then the runner forged ahead. Pointer came up the stretch with a magnificent burst of speed. Geers sitting as still as a statue, as Hal's nose reached the goal, a mighty shout went up, for hundreds of watchers stopped at 2:05, some on the quarter, among them John E. Turner's at 2:04 1/2. Upon the stand W. R. Allen and Mr. Hamlin caught it 2:05 1-5, and as the official timers agreed with the Narragansett Park shares with Washington Park, the honor of the fastest harness mile.

THE CABRILLO CELEBRATION.

Some of the Unique Features of the Programme.

The prospects are now that the greatest crowd ever congregated in Southern California will be present at San Diego to assist in celebrating Discovery day. Los Angeles will send large delegations, as will about every town in this portion of the State. The programme as made out presents features most unique in their way, and the historical representations will be extremely interesting. The old ship, with the Portuguese sailors and their commander, who will personate the original Cabrillo, the real Indians, the pow-wow and the festivities which are to follow the initiatory ceremony, will make a show like of which was never seen on this or any other coast. Information from San Diego is to the effect that the details of the celebration are being attended to with such care as to insure the success of the entire programme. The Santa Fe road will provide extra cars and special trains when necessary to carry people thither and back again in comfort.

The trees have never been irrigated and but one out of the 1000 failed to grow. He estimates that the trees will yield him thirty pounds of fruit per tree this season. [Pomona Times.]

THE CAMPAIGN.

Enthusiastic Republican Meeting at Washington Gardens—Uncle Billy Williams.

A joint meeting of the Republican clubs of the Fourth, Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards was held last evening at the Washington Gardens, with W. H. Burns as chairman and F. F. Ward as secretary.

J. L. Murphy made the address of the evening. In opening he paid a high tribute to the late E. F. Spence, and after briefly discussing the tariff and silver planks as found in the national platform, closed with an earnest appeal in behalf of Walter S. Moore, candidate for Senator in the Thirty-seventh district. He urged his election on the ground that, aside from being the nominee of the farthest convention held in Los Angeles for some years past, he was the best equipped to meet and act upon the many important measures affecting Southern California which would come before the next Legislature.

After music by the Nadeau Quartette Mr. Moore was introduced, and excused himself from making any extended remarks, as he had not heard from his office of joint debate with Gen. Matthews, Democrat, the nominee, and not wishing to spoil any argument which might follow the acceptance of this challenge, preferred to wait until later in the campaign before outlining the course which he proposes to follow in the event of his election.

The following candidates were then introduced, each speaking briefly and being heartily received: C. W. Pendleton, Frank Kelsey, Arthur Barr, William Young, Judge Austin and Robert W. Stewart.

"UNCLE BILLY."

The Great Republican Orator at San Luis Obispo.

Correspondence of The Times.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Sept. 18.—Last night the Hon. William Williams addressed the people of this city. The house was filled, and many others were unable to gain admittance. The meeting was preceded by a large procession carrying torches, transparencies and flags, and led by a splendid brass band. One of the transparencies bore the name of "Uncle Billy Williams," and cheers greeted the old favorite all along the line. This county is all right. Mr. Williams says that in forty years' campaigning he has never had such audiences, except where he spoke four years ago. He says that his Los Angeles speech, published in The Times, is giving him great fame throughout the State.

Secretary Bassett of the Republican State Central Committee, writes that he informed the Santa Barbara committee that Mr. Williams would be there next Saturday night, and received this reply: "We will give Uncle Billy Williams an audience of 2000 on Saturday night."

The veteran is standing the campaign admirably and has agreed with the State committee to speak twenty-five times after closing his district campaign on the 17th of October. He will rest on the 8th, 9th and 10th, before commencing his engagement with the State committee, and will embrace the opportunity to listen to the joint debate between White and Estee on the 8th prox.

[A list of Mr. Williams' future appointments will be published in due time.—E. O. TINE.]

Race War in Arkansas.

[San Francisco Chronicle.]

So close upon the heels of the Democratic jubilation over their victory in Arkansas as to be tremendously significant comes the news of what a dispatch from Little Rock calls a "race war in Calhoun county." The negroes, it seems, are dissatisfied with the new election law and threaten, so says the dispatch, to annihilate the whites, but in the first melee that occurred four negroes were killed and one white man wounded. The negroes have gathered in the whites in Calhoun county.

Another dispatch says that nine negroes were killed and two white men, and a third telegram says that near Rayford there were three negroes killed and several white men wounded. The whites seem to have escaped unhurt. The posse that fought the belligerent blacks at Rayford numbered fifty men from all parts of the county under the command of deputy sheriffs.

A high temperance party, and by doing so, will retain the power of infection almost entirely, and may be transported any distance and convey the disease anywhere.

Cholera is generally propagated by contaminated water used for drinking, cooking and washing, and by eating infected food, as fruits and vegetables, not previously sterilized by boiling or cooking.

Eating decayed or stale fruits, vegetables and meats does not produce cholera without the presence of cholera germs, but it does present these are potent agencies of its spread.

Fifth about the premises does not originate cholera, but when germs are present and a kind of dirt are fertile soil for the spread of the infection.

The disease, like smallpox, does not travel in the air, but is developed only in the lines of travel.

It prevails on shipboard, along the water-courses, on railroads, canals and all manner of thoroughfares, and it has been more prevalent in low altitudes and in sea-port towns, rather than in high altitudes and in the interior.

A high temperature favors the development of the disease and cold weather inhibits the bacillus and usually arrests the epidemic, but frost does not destroy the germs of cholera as it does the germs of yellow fever.

Cholera flourishes during the period after the rains, and the most fatal visitation of cholera in California, on the Sacramento and at San Francisco, was in the fall of 1849-50. It is, therefore, a mistake to think it can not find a foothold here in winter. It has prevailed in midwinter in the cold countries of Russia and Norway.

It is always more fatal among the weak, ill-fed, impecunious and filthy. Less so among the temperate, cleanly, healthy and well-fed who are not overpowered by fear.

The period of incubation is from two to ten or twelve days after infection.

The disease has three stages, viz.: First, the premonitory diarrhoea; second, the stage of collapse, and third, the stage of reaction, when recovery takes place.

The disease usually begins with diarrhoea, with or without colicky pains, vomiting, headache, with malaise and usually without fever.

In the second stage there is profuse rice-water discharges from the bowels with incessant vomiting, cramps in the bowels, legs, white tongue, intense thirst, feeble pulse, followed by an ashy paleness of the skin, shrunken features, pinched nose, husky voice, profuse perspiration, coldness with blueness of the nails, stupor and death in the fatal cases, but with less alarming symptoms in milder cases that go on through the stage of reaction, with subsidence of all the symptoms follow by recovery.

During an epidemic there are mild cases of diarrhoea called choleric, which should receive prompt treatment.

The clinical picture of Asiatic cholera is like that of cholera morbus.

In past epidemics the mortality ranges from 20 to 90 per cent. or an average mortality of about 50 per cent. with modern antiseptic methods the mortality with prompt treatment and proper sanitation should not exceed 10 per cent.

Prevention.

Strict and thorough quarantine—international—interstate and municipal is of the first importance to arrest the disease.

Purify your homes by thorough cleanliness, remove all garbage, decaying filth, manure and trash of every kind from the premises.

Disinfect all drains, cesspools, water-closets, sewers, etc., with copraes. See that all fixtures are properly trapped and all plumbing is perfect and thoroughly and frequently flushed.

Ventilate your house from cellar to garret and ventilate and cleanse and disinfect the space under your residence.

Thorough hygienic conditions necessary to combat cholera will also prevent and all preventable diseases both contagious and infectious—such as typhoid fever, smallpox, yellow fever, diphtheria, etc.

Eat nothing but recently well-cooked food.

Avoid washing vegetables, like lettuce, celery, radishes, cabbage, onions, crucifers, etc., which are served without cooking, in any but recently sterilized water.

Avoid stale food, stale fruits, stale meats and stale vegetables.

In case of an outbreak isolate the cases by strict local quarantine.

If taken sick with symptoms of cholera, avoid nostrums but report the case to the Health Officer, and call your physician or some competent medical attendant—as it is a disease of but a few hours, and if you value your life or the lives of others do not compromise with the dread disease.

Disinfect all discharges from patients by straining them from the toilet with bichloride of mercury and boiling water. Care in this respect will prevent the spread of the poisonous germs and prevent infecting water supplies, etc.

Disinfect all clothing, soiled linen, furniture, etc., with strong carbolic acid and boiling water before removing them from the sick room.

Physicians, sanitarians and nurses, and all those informed as to the essential hygienic conditions, who carry above regulations, rarely succumb to the disease.

Fumigate with chlorine gas, burning sulphur with moisture, and steam.

To recapitulate, the essence of prevention and treatment is to be clean.

HENRY T. HAZARD, Mayor, President of the Board of Health of the City of Los Angeles.

JOSEPH KURTZ, M. D., J. H. DAVISON, M. D., M. H. HAZARD, M. D., E. T. WRIGHT, C. E., GRANVILLE MACGOWAN, M. D., Health Officer.

While the board was still in session Health Officer MacGowan received a telephone message from Dr. Ainsworth, the Southern Pacific Company's surgeon, stating that he had just received a dispatch from Dr. Cotta, inspector at Yuma for the State Board of Health. Dr. Cotta stated that he had quarantined an emigrant car on the westbound overland train at that point on account of a suspicious case, and that he disinfecting the clothing and carrying the passengers a bath and had them put on clean clothing. If there are no suspicious cases today the quarantine car will be sent on to Los Angeles today. The train took on passengers at Yuma, Texas, where two deaths occurred on the 18th inst., supposed to be from cholera.

On motion of Dr. Kurtz, it was decided to have 10,000 circulars of bulletin No. 1 struck off and distributed by The Times circulating department.

When we read the Declaration of joy over their pluralism in Arkansas, and at the same time read the Declaration of a race war caused by the fact that the Negroes are dissatisfied with the law, we cannot help putting things together and believe that the Democratic plurality counted on so magnificently would have been negated by the election of a Negro.

1492-1892.
The day of days is nearing—October 21, 1892—the quadricentennial anniversary of the discovery of America by immortal Christopher Columbus.

The Los Angeles Times has fixed upon this historic and glorious day for the issuance of a special illustrated Columbian Number, to consist of twenty-four pages (besides a four-page illustrated supplement) descriptive of Los Ange-

PERHAPS Grover's trying not to dodge it.

Come! come! campaign, let's get into the game.

Is it possible that Grover is Man-david-of-his-letter?

LOTTIE COLLINS is out of quarantine.
Ta-ra-boom-de-ay!

The tri-color seems very much at home in the land of the free.

MR. GRAY ought to have a law passed making the cholera bacillus get his picture taken also.

"Public office is a public trust."
That is the reason Cleve and Steve are not going to get in.

MR. TREWYVA having at last detected that ball, he should go hunt up Evans and Sontag and thus conquer more worlds.

THERE is a prospective shortage in the onion crop back East. You who have tears to shed had better shed them now.

THAT corruption fund of Mr. Pulitzer's grows so slowly that it never will reach the dignity of a "barrel." It will have to go into history as a keg.

We know why the girls are going to use pajamas for slumber robes. They think it will give them a sure-enough excuse to wear suspenders.

THE Democrats of the imperial county of Los Angeles having put their ticket in the field, we see no reason why Grover should delay that letter even another day.

PROF. BARNARD makes a lot of talk

South is all solid enough.

We do not desire to put on airs over our esteemed contemporaries, but we feel free to assert that THE TIMES is without a peer in all the wide field of journalism. This paper has a reporter who is laid up with the gout. If anybody can match the record let him come to the center.

THE Boston Journalizes up the situation in a nut-shell. It says:

Neither the McKinley tariff nor the Mills bill is the issue in this campaign.
It is protection or no protection. This is the question upon which the American people are to be called on to vote, and that is why the election is the most momentous since the close of the rebellion.

OLIV WELBORN with his voice is in the northern end of the Seventh district making the populace pray for rain. In anticipation of his advent at Fresno the Republican does some little pluming on the fact that the irrigation facilities thereabouts are entirely O. K., and that no drought is feared from the great irrigator's visit. Fresno passed through a visitation of the same sort in June, and naturally feels somewhat acclimated, but the remainder of the country is wishing the cyclone was over. It is a sad thing to be talked to death—indeed it is, Messrs. Welborn or Bowers!

The following, originally published in the National City Record, is republished by the Los Angeles Express with great gladness:

Mr. Lindley, our sympathies are with you because you will be elected. What a day time you will have in Congress, trying to satisfy Santa Monica, San Pedro, Redondo and the numerous other barons in your district, to say nothing of the kickers of Los Angeles—not forgetting its Chamber of Commerce and the astute Board of Trade, and its Times and Herald. You won't find your midnight hours lonesome in Washington, for you will awake from troubled dreams and find all these kickers dancing on your anatomy.

There is an old and accepted truism which runs somewhat to the effect that one should not enumerate his diminutive barney fowls before they emerge from the shell. See!

and he writes to the American Economist to say: "In common with many other Democrats, I cannot follow the leaders of the party in denouncing Republican protection as a fraud upon the labor of the great majority of the American people for the benefit of a few; nor can I subscribe to the doctrine that a protective tariff is unconstitutional. I have no pecuniary interest in manufactures, but I know that protection has done and is doing for this country. If it operates for the benefit of the few, I am not one of that few. I am one of the many; one of the great majority benefited by it, including those who denounce it for the sake of obtaining political power."

On September 15, Bourke Cockran said in a speech referring to Grover Cleveland:

"The people of this country believe that he typifies today the highest form of development which American citizenship has reached, because in all his life and all his career there is not a single act which needs explanation, and though enemies may criticize him, the whole people admire and respect him."

And this is what Mr. Cockran said of the sage of Gray Gables at the Chicago convention:

"I believe that Mr. Cleveland is a very popular man, a most popular man.
I have said that I believe that he is a most popular man, and I believe that his extraordinary popularity every day in the year except one, and that is election day. A popularity which I might describe as tumultuous, but not reducible to votes. It is delusive. So it is calculated and four months before election, and to produce disappointment for four years after election."

So far the pneumatic prophet hasn't even aroused the enthusiasm beforehand.

With the example of Peck in jail for truth-telling, no Democrat will be expected to stick to the facts hereafter.
But hasn't it taken a long time for them to catch one of them at it?

The opening gun of the campaign in most places this year has been a pop-gun. You couldn't hear it go off half way around the block.

Tariff Plumes.
(New York Press.)

The new fiscal year of 1892-93 has started out well for reciprocity. Our exports to Cuba for July were

$1,624,229
as against $884,851
for July, 1891.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE.

Late Contributions to the Permanent Exhibit—Capt. Merry's Lecture.

The Chamber of Commerce rooms were crowded with visitors yesterday, and among them were seen many faces of new arrivals from the East.

One of the attractive features which drew considerable attention was the cabinet of minerals containing 1250 specimens, placed in the hall by Mrs. C. H. Walker, mention of which was made in yesterday's Times.

A plate of old-fashioned Eastern paw-paws, that were placed on the River table by L. L. Bequette, also attracted the attention of many visitors.

S. A. Waldron sends in from Antelope Valley two sacks of barley which are being prepared for the horticultural fair after which they will be stored away for the World's Fair exhibit.

McCreary & Son of this city send in five samples of alfalfa hay, representing five different growths, which will be packed away for the fair.

L. S. Porter of Pasadena sends in a handsome dish of Salway peaches, both green and dried.

Richard Gird paid the Chamber of Commerce a visit yesterday and stated that the work at China was being carried on with more satisfaction than the most sanguine had anticipated. The average farmer is reaping a reward that is equal to the profits of many of our fruit-growers. Many of the beets that have been harvested are running as high as 25 per cent, giving a return to the farmer of 100 per cent.

Mr. Gird also reported that the factory that delivered to the factory last month $45,000 worth of beets from his own ranch. His delivery is at the rate of 400 tons a day. He says he has taken back the Anaheim sugar factory and hopes to see it in operation next year. He will make an exhibit at the World's Fair of his improved machinery for the cultivation and gathering of the sugar beet, by which 50 per cent of the labor is saved.

Capt. Merry's lecture on the Nicaragua Canal promises to be well attended, as many inquiries are received at the chamber as to the hour of the lecture.

Applications for space in the horticultural fair still continue to come in.
Parties intending contesting for the premium offered by the Los Angeles County World's Fair Committee of $30 for the best grain exhibit, and also the round-trip ticket to the World's Fair by the Phillips Excursion Agency, can make an entry of their exhibit under the classification as specified by the Horticultural Association, and also compete for the above prize.

Several members of the Chamber of Commerce intend taking in the Cabrillo celebration at San Diego.

Fell in a Fit.

A man named Darius Gray fell in a fit on Spring street yesterday afternoon and was taken to the central police station for medical treatment. He seemed to be in a dying condition when the hurry-up wagon reached the station.

There were about twenty savage looking Maricopa Indians ranged around the walls of the main office when the officers rushed Mr. Gray in.
In some unaccountable manner the sufferer managed to open one corner of his left eye, and quicker than a flash he came out of that fit, and the next second he was as well as ever, with the exception of a big scar that had taken possession of him.

The Indians' painted or dirty faces brightened him out of the fit, and the chief is now thinking of keeping a few of these fellows around the station for such cases.

A Silly Report.

For the past day or two a report has been persistently circulated to the effect that County Clerk Ward had arbitrarily decided to close his office, as usual, which would have the effect of depriving voters whose names are not on the Great Register from securing certificates which are necessary to enable a man to vote at the primaries if held under the Porter Law. There is absolutely nothing in the report.
Mr. Ward says if it is necessary he will keep his office open at night and have a deputy in attendance to issue certificates, as he does not wish to prevent any man from voting. Just how the report started is not known, but it is evidently being circulated for political effect.

H IN HAWAII.

The Queen's Attempt to Form a New Cabinet.

The Legislature Proposes to Resist
Her, "Gently, but Firmly."

Strained Relations and a Critical Condition of Affairs—A Complicated Deal Between Kinkaid and a Possible Outbreak.

Special Correspondence of THE TIMES.

HONOLULU (H. L.) Sept. 14, 1892.—

Since last writing the political situation has remained in a strained and critical condition. Up to late on the night of the 12th inst. nothing had occurred; but during the evening a rumor became current that the Queen had called Hon.
E. C. Macfarlane, a member of the Legislature, to form a new cabinet. Mr.
Macfarlane will be remembered as the man who made the uncalculated personal attack on Hon. John L. Stevens, American Minister to Honolulu, early in the present session. On the morning of the 13th, when the Legislature met, the secretary read a message from the Queen stating that she had been pleased to commission as her cabinet the Hon.
E. C. Macfarlane, Minister of Finance; Hon. Samuel Parker, Minister of Foreign Affairs; Charles T. Gulick, Esq., Minister of the Interior, and Hon. Paul Neumann, Attorney-General. It was a genuine surprise to the Legislature, and it was at once seen that Macfarlane had gone over to the Queen's party, as he had formed the cabinet without consulting the majority of the Legislature, who had demanded that the Queen should call on a representative man representing that body. It was soon known that Macfarlane had gone into the Queen's scheme for defying the Legislature to the bitter end, without even consulting with the half a dozen members of the political clique which he had hitherto led on the floor of the house. And this is the fact that the new cabinet contains the two men, viz., Messrs. Parker and Neumann, whose presence in the late cabinet precipitated the vote of want of confidence passed on August 30, and it was at once seen that the Queen's announcement of the new cabinet was MET WITH OPPOSITION AND DISFAVOR.

The silence which received the announcement encouraged Minister Macfarlane to address the house, and he closed by asking for a short adjournment to allow the new cabinet to get together the reins of government into their hands. Then the speaker brook-ing no further delay, he adjourned the house until tomorrow morning, when he should have warned the Queen and her advisers they were upon a dangerous precipice. Noble Thurston closed a fiery speech by declaring that he would not support the Queen's policy, by appointing a new cabinet acceptable to the house, and it was for the house now to decide whether it would exercise its prerogative again and remove them or not; and he asked an adjournment of a short time for the house to determine its method of procedure. Other members followed, expressing the general sentiment of the house to be one of strong condemnation of the course pursued by the Queen's party. An adjournment was had for forty-eight hours, and the house again assembled this morning at 10:45, but will probably take no definite action before the Australia leaves at noon.

THE LATEST.

It is generally understood that the Legislature will attack the Queen's cabinet this morning, and will remove them by a vote of want of confidence.
The Queen's party is now in a state of want of confidence. The leaders of the house claim they will have a majority and several votes to spare.

HOW THE LAND LAYS.

Many rumors are afloat regarding the real situation of affairs. It is believed that Her Majesty has already asked the Legislature to remove the cabinet, and that she will grant "her government," whatever that may mean, protection in case she continued in her course of defying the Legislature and thereby precipitated trouble. It is impossible at the present time to find out what reply Minister Wodehouse gave Her Majesty. It is declared on good authority, however, that Minister Wodehouse and the American Minister, Hon. John L. Stevens, have held a consultation on the dead-end of the matter, and that they agree in the opinion that the Queen is wrong in her course and that the Legislature is interpreting the constitution properly.
In case of trouble this opinion will likely prevail.

THE BRITISH VICE-CONSUL.

On the morning of September 13 Mr.
T. Rain Walker, British Vice-Consul, published an article in the P. O. Advertiser attempting to sustain the Queen's position, and that of her party in particular. The letter called forward editorial comment in the same issue showing that Walker was mistaken in both the facts and law governing the interpretation of the constitution. The publication of such a document by the British Vice-Consul caused much adverse comment, which was freely expressed, owing to Walker's attitude several days to the effect that the Queen was being advised by the British Minister resident, Maj. James Hay Wodehouse. This morning (September 14) Mr. Walker again published another article in the same paper in which he "earnestly deprecates" the course of the Legislature and condemns the publication of what he calls "unjust and inaccurate charges of failure on the part of the sovereign in her interpretation of the Hawaiian constitution."

PRIVATE—AND SERIOUS.

HONOLULU (Hawian Islands), Sept. 14, 1892, 11:50 a.m. (boat sails at 12 m.)

—MY DEAR SIR: Matters are in a critical state here, and I send you all that I can which can be absolutely depended upon as news. Many rumors are afloat, but none of them are true. The Queen has reached without an outbreak, or by the next mail I may send you startling news.
If the Queen has applied to the British Minister, as is almost certain, it is a piece of bold play to bluff the American residents. In any event, the trouble is sure to be settled one way or the other before England can move in the matter.
Let me hear from you.

Yours in haste,

Licensed to Wed.

Marriage licenses were issued at the County Clerk's office yesterday to the following persons:

Constantine Garibaldi, a native of Italy, aged 40 years, and a resident of Pasadena, and Bianchina Prato, aged 26, a native of Italy, and a resident of Los Angeles.

W. D. Spencer, a native of Delaware, aged 25 years, and a resident of Pomona, and Katie L. Eisenbeis, a native of Ohio, aged 23 years, and a resident of Pomona.

THE WORLD'S FAIR.

Officials Demanding Plans and Specifications of Exhibits.

The World's Fair officials are demanding of the various exhibitors throughout the State that plans and specifications of proposed exhibits be forwarded at once. In turn the local organizations are anxious to know what producers are preparing, each in their special line.

In response to the published request, the World's Fair secretary has received twenty-four bundles of tall corn. Now he wants some specimens of Egyptian corn, some large bunches of grapes, nuts other than English walnuts (especially peanuts on the bush), and names of persons who contemplate raising large quantities of the various fruits and vegetables for the exposition.

Every farmer in the State can exhibit some one thing of superior quality.
Every miner and prospector can furnish at least one specimen of ore.
Every manufacturer can furnish one unique or fancy-finished piece of mechanism or manufactured product. Every owner of an orchard or vineyard can furnish some fruit or product of the tree that cannot easily be surpassed.
Every sawmill owner or owner of a marble quarry can furnish at least one piece of wood or lumber of extra beauty or cleanness or some finely-polished piece of marble. Every artist can furnish a gem in California scenery. As a rule producers in all lines of industry will, when personally appealed to by those authorized to speak, contribute the finest articles or products at their disposal, both cheerfully and without reward. Such has been the experience of the members of the California World's Fair Commission, but it is obviously impossible for them to see personally all the exhibitors in the State.

LAI TO REST.

Impressive Funeral Services of the Late E. F. Spence.

Last Tribute of Respect Paid by the Masonic and Other Fraternities of Which Deceased Was a Member—An Imposing Cortege.

The funeral of Hon. E. F. Spence, which took place from his late residence on Burlington avenue yesterday afternoon was in point of attendance one of the largest ever held in this city.

As early as 1 o'clock members of the Masonic and other fraternities with which deceased had been connected were forming at their halls, and at 2 p.m. the grounds and streets about the family residence were thronged with carriages and with sympathetic friends, only a small proportion of whom, however, were able to secure even standing room within the spacious dwelling.

In accordance with the expressed desire of the family friends refrained from bringing their offerings of flowers, and in deference to the same wishes the exercises were of the simplest order.

The choir sang the beautiful hymn,
"Abide with Me," after which Rev.
J. W. Campbell made a short but elo-quently worded prayer. Another hymn, "Refuge," was sung, and then the deceased's pastor, Rev. Dr. Stephenson, of the Monterey Methodist Episcopal Church, arose.

His remarks were brief and well chosen. After giving a hasty sketch of the life of the departed member of his church, he went on to give a personal recapitulation of one who was, he said, never so happy as when responding to appeals for assistance.

After dwelling a little on the subject of his great philanthropy the speaker made mention of the deceased's public career, his literary achievements, and then turned to the sorrow-stricken members of the family circle. His words of comfort and counsel were very impressive, and all present seemed greatly affected.

At the close of Dr. Stephenson's remarks Rev. Dr. Campbell supplemented what had already been said by telling of his own personal experiences with Mr. Spence; how he had been among the first to welcome him when he came nine months ago a new and unknown preacher to this city, and how it had been his pleasure to be present and kneel in prayer with him during his last fatal illness. He spoke of the feeling of the high character of the deceased, and when he had concluded his words of tender sympathy and condolence to the bereaved ones gathered about the casket there was not a dry eye in the house.

The exercises closed with the song commencing, "I will sing you a song of that beautiful land," after which those present were allowed a last look at the face of him who was about to be laid in his last resting place.

The interment was at Evergreen, and the procession that accompanied the remains was one of the longest ever witnessed in this city.

Following is the order of the procession as carried out under the direction of Col. Freeman G. Teed:

Platoon of mounted police; Cour de Lion Commandery, K. T., Sir Knight George M. Holton in command; lodges of Odd Fellows, Fred. M. Chandler in charge; Knights of Chivalry, O. H.
Bogalsky in charge; detachment of Los Angeles Fire Department, Col. W. S.
Moore in charge; Bankers' Association of Los Angeles; Southern California Lodge, F. M. A. M., James W. Long, W. J. Ball-bear, hearse, family and friends in carriages.

There were two sets of pall-bearers, the first chosen from the local membership of the Odd Fellows, as follows: J.
F. Hoffmann, J. M. Sutherland, L. M.
Bates, F. M. McConnell, Gus Smith and Gustave Helman. These bearers placed the casket in the hearse and accompanied the remains to the cemetery, where the Masonic fraternity took charge. Following are the bearers of the casket: Judges J. D. Bicknell, W. P. Wad, Col. J. C. Lee, S. B. Hott, W. H. Workman, H. Z. Osborne, John S. Park and H. W. Helman.

The exercises at the grave consisted in the simple Masonic rites conducted by Worshipful Master J. W. Long, assisted by Past Master W. H. Morgan, of Pen-taclia Lodge.

Owing to the distance from the residence to the cemetery, and the consequent lateness of the hour before reaching the grave, many were unable to attend, yet the number who did go was but another silent testimonial of the high place held by the deceased ex-Mayor in the hearts of his sympathizers of the people of this community.

New Mining Company.

Articles of incorporation were yesterday filed with the County Clerk for the Virginia Mining Company.

The principal place of business is Pomona, Cal., and the purposes of the corporation are for buying, selling, developing and working mines, developing water.

The capital stock is $1,000,000, divided into 100,000 shares of $10 each, of which $994,500 is actually subscribed. The directors and their places of residence are as follows: P. B.
Lewis, Azusa; F. M. Siebert, Chino; Ben Lewis, Chino; J. C. Youngman, Pomona; C. S. Hutchinson, Pomona.

VIVE LA FRANCE.

The Centenary of the French Republic.

The Event Fittingly Celebrated in This City Yesterday.

A Street Parade and Literary Exercises at the Pavilion.

Addresses by George Le Messager and Dr. de Calhoun in French, and Mayor Hazard and Hon. W. J. Williams in English.

The celebration of the centenary of the first republic established in France was fittingly carried out by the French colony of Los Angeles, assisted by their sympathizing American friends, yesterday with a highly creditable street parade, pyrotechnics and enthusiastic patriotic addresses, the day closing with a grand ball, at which were gathered a host of invited guests to do honor to the occasion.

Various committees had been at work for many days preparatory to the event and that their labor had been successfully applied the undoubted success of the affair was sufficient proof. The following comprised the management:

Honorary president, L. Loeb; president of the day, Dr. E. A. de Calhoun; French orator, G. L. Messager; American orator, W. J. Williams.

Executive Committee—President, G.
Riccard; vice-president, A. Boudoin; secretary, J. Amelineau; treasurer, F.
Clavere; committeemen, E. Eyraud, C.
Save, J. Apollon, J. Boyer, E. Faure.

Reception Committee—J. Santous, P.
Saubion, L. Dupuy, Jean Allece, P.
Ballade, Ed. Naud, Louis Santous, G.
Pellissier, E. Fleur, J. Jausaud, S. Ca-hen, Albert Grand, P. Darancette, G.
Lacour, J. Dombidies.

Honorary Committee—A. C. Roques, E.
Faure, E. Robin, L. Santous, Jr., J.
Viole, L. Boudier, T. Molle, J. Castera, J. Camille Santous, J. Darfeuille, J.
Harotcarena, E. Canet, A. Amestoy and L. Pillario.

THE PROCESSION.

The procession began forming on Aliso street shortly after 1 o'clock.

Edmond Amar was grand marshal, with Messrs. Cestlin Save and A. C.
Roques aides; Jean Allece, chief of the division; Vincent Santous of the second.

Along the line of march throughout the French quarter were displayed amid the Stars and Stripes the broad bands of the tricolor, as it hung from the doorways and balconies, and the gathered into festoons and rosettes.

First came a platoon of police accompanied by the grand marshal and his aides, and then in close succession followed the two divisions of the main body, consisting of a company of citizens, carriages containing the speakers and guests, the French guards, platoon of artillery with cannon, making in all a procession nearly a mile in length.

Two floats carried respectively L'apprehis de la Republique and Le Peuple, in which Miles, Amelia Uhalt and Antoinette Ballade represented the leading characters, lent brilliancy to the scene.

Starting at Aliso street the procession moved down Los Angeles through Third to Main, up Main to the Plaza, countermarched to Spring, and from thence to First, Broadway and Fifth, when Hazard's Pavilion was reached, where the afternoon exercises were held.

Inside the Pavilion there was gathered a large audience of expectant listeners when the procession arrived.
The military and musical organizations escorted the speakers and officers of the day to the platform, and as the familiar air of "La Marseillaise" was struck up by the band enthusiastic applause reverberated through the building that was then hoisted by a hurriedly in and soon filled
their way hurriedly in and soon filled
the remaining seats.

Dr. E. A. de Calhoun, as president of the day, opened the programme with an address to his countrymen in the native tongue, closing with a stirring "Vive la France!" "Vive la Republique!" that brought forth an ear-splitting shout of applause.

Dr. de Calhoun then turned to the Americans present and said:

Let us not forget that having had the honor of being appointed by my countrymen presiding officer for this occasion, it becomes my pleasant duty, before introducing the speakers and officers of the day to the platform, and as the familiar
air of "La Marseillaise" was struck up by
the band enthusiastic applause reverber-
ated through the building that was
then hoisted by a hurriedly in and soon filled
their way hurriedly in and soon filled
the remaining seats.

Dr. de Calhoun then turned to the Americans present and said:

Let us not forget that having had the

RAILROAD AFFAIRS.

Another Move for a Reduction of Passenger Rates.

When the Tariff's Posted It Will Go Into Effect.

The Latest Rumor Concerning the Cable Road's Destiny.

A Rat's Nest Shipped Over the Santa Fe—The New Depot—General, Local and Personal Railroad Mention.

Once more the Santa Fe is making a move toward a reduction of passenger rates. This time it is to effect east-bound business, and may be an entering wedge for further cutting. The passenger traffic department of that road asked authority to reduce east-bound passenger rates from California points $5 below the present tariff, and when it was voted down in the meeting of general passenger agents notice was given of an appeal to the commission.

To those who may not be posted, it may be necessary to explain that all this may be denominated as "monkey business." Of course such a proposition would be voted down in a meeting of passenger agents representing rival roads, and an appeal to the commissioners of the association will only result in prolonging the misery. In these days of associations and agreements the general public has learned to doubt the sincerity of any statement regarding a desired reduction of rates. The railroad officials may seemingly desire to make some such move, but the agreement and red tape pertaining thereto thwart their philanthropic efforts. Just now, when few people care to go East, a reduction of $5 in the rate to Chicago would not fill any long-felt want. It is certain that it would not be as great a strike as would a good, generous reduction of the rate West bound at a season when tourists and settlers could take advantage of it; but of that promised low rate nothing is being said nowadays. Traffic Manager White's effort to put on that $14.70 rate was nipped in the bud by the board of directors, who live in Boston and Europe and thereabout and don't care whether California is populated or not.

THE CABLE ROAD.
The Street Railway Journal of the current issue says that it is understood that steps are being taken to organize a strong syndicate in Chicago to purchase the cable railway property of the Pacific Railway Company at Los Angeles at the coming foreclosure sale. It is reported that the road is earning considerable money at present over and above operating expenses, and that the prospects are good for a still further increase in earning capacity.

SCAP HEAD.
T. K. Stateler, of the Northern Pacific at San Francisco, visited Los Angeles yesterday.

The transportation and traffic departments of the Southern California road were, on Wednesday, greatly mystified by a way bill which had been made out for the shipment of "One rat's nest" from San Diego to Washington, D. C., consigned to the Smithsonian Institute. After much telegraphing it was learned that the freight consisted of a very curious specimen of a rat's nest from San Diego's back country, being sent to the great repository for curious things at the Nation's capital.

From a private source it was yesterday learned that the Eastern magnates who control the destinies of the Santa Fe road had acted upon the proposition to build a passenger depot in Los Angeles, but they have decided it is not known. Officials here say that there is nothing new in the matter.

IMMIGRANTS QUARANTINED.

Prompt Action of the Health Inspector at Ogilby.

Another party of immigrants from the East was due to arrive last night by the Southern Pacific train which came in at 10 o'clock, but a watchful health officer at the State's frontier headed off the people as suspects. A message received here from Ogilby, a station in the desert about sixteen miles this side of Yuma from Dr. Cotter, inspector for the State Board of Health, brought information that he had detained an immigrant car containing seventeen people from the East for what seemed to him ample reason. Two of the passengers had come from Gainesville, Tex., where, according to report, there had been a case or two of cholera, and one passenger was quite ill with bowel trouble that somewhat resembled cholera symptoms.

The suspicious circumstances had warranted his detaining the people and sidetracking the car at Ogilby. He had compelled the passengers to take a disinfecting bath and clean their clothing, while he watches for further symptoms of the scourge. In his official telegram Dr. Cotter said that he expected to send the immigrants forward today unless something unfavorable turns up. At any rate the passengers will be cleaner. Some additional information on this subject is conveyed in an Associated Press dispatch from Yuma saying: A tourist sleeper containing fifteen through passengers on the westbound overland was quarantined today at Ogilby, Cal., sixteen miles west of here. One passenger, from Greytown, Nicaragua, and one from New York are slightly sick with bowel trouble and derangement of the stomach. State Health Officer Cotter and a deputy sheriff will thoroughly fumigate the car, clothing and baggage of the passengers for twelve hours. All are compelled to bathe. The railroad company sent food for the passengers and is cooperating with the Board of Health to prevent the introduction of cholera into California. The well passengers will be allowed to proceed tomorrow unless the cases prove to be cholera, when all will be quarantined at Rock Spur on the desert. The suspects will be held in quarantine. The railroad has provided extra cars at Ogilby for the accommodation of the passengers.

J. T. SHEWARD,

113-115 N. SPRING-ST.

A FEW months ago every advertiser who kept dry goods gave us a crack over the head about advertising polite and affable clerks; every mother's son of them are today advertising polite and affable clerks; they can see the power of this by the very large increase in our trade. Again, when we announced Saturday-night closing efforts were made to stop the movement by calling the proprietor a crank. The tide has already forced the fighting in another direction; the crank still turns and the wheels go round, and it is a well-known fact that the trade of this house is showing the greatest gain ever made by any dry goods house in this city. Today we are crowding sales in the big Dress Goods Department—50c dress goods, two hundred styles to show you; trade doubling up in dress goods—85c dress goods, 75c dress goods, 65c dress goods placed in the line to make it complete in every detail, and you get the pick for 50c a yard. Fancy weaves, plain cloths, diagonals, criss-cross styles, zig-zag effects; herring-bone weaves, any of them for 50c a yard. We are forcing the fighting; it is the way to gain victory; dress goods is the foundation stone, and every brick laid is marked success. It is the great big overgrown 50c line of all-wool stylish weaves and elegant patterns that is bringing the greatest success. Think of it! 50c a yard in California, 3000 miles from the great manufacturing centers and you buy the goods for less than you pay in the East. Again, think of it! 50c a yard, all new, stylish, handsome new goods for 50c a yard. The dress goods counters are lined with purchasers in front of them each and every day; at times they are two and three deep—50c a yard; you never saw the like; no merchant ever pushed business harder than this business is being pushed today; what is the result? Every click of the hammer has driven the nail deeper into the wood. It is no longer a question as to who is selling the largest amount of dry goods—two floors, each 36x208 feet, packed and crammed and jammed full of goods and polite and affable clerks to show them, and every one of these good, honest, truthful clerks go to their homes each Saturday evening at 6 o'clock, get a good, warm, hearty meal and rest their weary brains and tired bodies while the clerks in the other houses are eating cold lunches and wearing out a few more hours for greed and gain their employer exacts from them. This house will never open its doors again Saturday nights—put a pin there, brother, and remember why you did it.

Papers in an Important Suit Filed With the County Clerk.

Jean Leonis Anxious to Get His Share of His Deceased Brother's Estate—Suit to Annul a Marriage—General Court Notes.

The complaint in what promises to be a sensational suit was filed with the County Clerk yesterday. The plaintiff in the case is Jean Leonis, a brother of the late Miguel Leonis, who died on the 20th of September, 1889, and the defendants are John B. Amestoy and Antonio Amestoy, as executors of the will of Domingo Amestoy, deceased, Juanita Amestoy Gless, executrix of the will of Domingo Amestoy, Simon F. Gless, her husband, Louisa, Pedro, Michel, Paul J. and Elizabeth Amestoy.

Jean Leonis was one of the legatees under his brother's will for a large amount of property. The will was offered for probate in October following Miguel's death, and it has been supposed that everything was progressing favorably. Jean now comes forward and alleges that on the 28th of October, 1891, he conveyed to Domingo Amestoy for $5 all his rights and interests in his brother's estate, it being understood that the same was only in trust, he being ignorant of the English language, and the transfer was made to Mr. Amestoy to protect his interest. Mr. Amestoy has since died, and his executors having made no movement to reconvey to him his property, under the agreement with said Amestoy, Leonis brings suit to have the property transferred to him and that he be declared an equitable owner in the same.

As the amount of property in dispute is large, it is more than probable that a long and expensive lawsuit has been inaugurated.

TOO MANY WIVES.

Lena Crandall yesterday instituted suit to annul her marriage with Carl W. Biffinger on the grounds that the said had another wife living at the time of the marriage. The parties were married December 19, 1888, and lived together until June, 1892, when the wife discovered that her husband had another wife living in Germany. She immediately left him. There is one child, Max, and the mother also petitions for its custody and that provision be made for its support.

The case of Monroe vs. Foster, before Judge Shaw, was argued and submitted yesterday, and the case continued to October 4th. The defendant was placed under a $25 bond for his appearance on that day.

E. Samson was tried before Justice Stanton and a jury for battery, it being charged by Clarence Pates, a boy 12 years old, that the defendant, who is a burly old man of 77 years, had struck him and thrown him out of a buggy a day or two since. The aged defendant was found guilty and fined $10. He went to jail last night, but expects to pay his fine today.

George Creutz, convicted in the United States District Court Wednesday for sending a postal card containing obscene matter to a man in Oakland, was sentenced by Judge Ross to pay a fine of $300.

In the case of Mesmer vs. Kevane Judge McKinley granted the defendant ten days' additional time in which to prepare and serve a bill of exception.

Rosa Ortega was adjudged insane before Judge McKinley and Drs. W. G. Cochran and Thomas Davidson and committed to the asylum at Agnew.

Samuel W. Phillips, a colored man, was granted a divorce from his wife, Mrs. V. C. Phillips, by Judge McKinley on the ground of adultery. The defendant allowed the case to go by default.

In an action to quiet the title to certain land, brought by David Galbraith, as administrator of the estate of Adam Recker, vs. J. B. Aspinall, Judge Clark granted a decree by default in favor of the plaintiff.

Judge Clark has appointed Mrs. Nellie C. Davis guardian of Charles C. Davis, her son, who has been bequeathed $1500. The bond was fixed at that amount.

The trial of James Lacey's $10,000 damage suit against George K. Porter for alleged false imprisonment at San Fernando, was resumed yesterday morning before Judge Wade, and after the examination of several witnesses for the defense, the case was at noon continued until this morning at 10 o'clock.

醫良世壽 妙藥精脉

"Skillful cure increases longevity to the world."

The above are two of the many REWARDS OF MERIT or DIPLOMAS OF PROFESSIONAL SKILL which have from time to time been awarded to the CELEBRATED CHINESE PHYSICIAN, DR. WONG, for his superior medical abilities and curative powers. It has long been customary among the Chinese people when one becomes sick and when repeated attempts to cure him have failed, and he is perhaps given up to die, if after having been taken to an eminent physician, he is cured, to present a testimonial of gratitude for his restoration to health and the prolongation of his life. This present consists usually of a broad plank, presenting much the appearance of a sign-board, filled with characters entirely meaningless to the average English scholar, but full of meaning to the successful physician and his friends. It is a motto which highly compliments the physician for his great skill in effecting a cure of the disease which once afflicted the donor.

It is not an uncommon thing to see a great number of these COMPLIMENTARY DIPLOMAS adorning the office walls of Chinese physicians in their native country, and indeed a number of the most successful ones in this country are the happy possessors of a few of these high tokens of very superior medical ability.

AUTUMN MILLINERY

New Materials, Shapes and Designs for Fall and Winter.

OUR opening display for autumn will take place Saturday of this week and Monday of next. It bids fair to eclipse in richness and novelty anything one can remember for years past. It certainly appears as if all the treasures of art in every available way had been put into requisition to furnish ideas, designs and models.

While we may owe many an inspiration of the beauty and designs to plates and patterns from the great fashion emporiums of France, yet our own workroom is now so proficient in the dexterity of model making that we produce even far more satisfactory creations in the wonderful effect of light and shade and the combination of colors. Our hats and bonnets will be on display Saturday, when, as usual, we will show the finest goods, the grandest patterns and the most exquisite trimming.

All are invited without individual cards.

Our Cloak Department.

Our cloak room is not a very extensive affair. It's a neat, cozy, pleasant room, entirely cut off from the noise, bustle and confusion of the general store. We have intentionally selected this site because most lady patrons like quiet and seclusion—away from the hum of trade—so as to be able to deliberate with freedom from interruption. Such is our cloak room. Aside from this advantage we handle cloaks not as a regular stock, but more for a call to keep the trade under one roof by being able to supply every want from the soles of the feet to the top of the head.

Our stock is all "bran" new; no old last season's stuff to work off; our prices will be a revelation to you, for as you know, cloaks have never been handled by the trade as a "staple," but as a "fancy," and to that end fancy prices prevailed. We have knocked the high prices down; we have placed cloaks on a par with other goods—straight, honest prices; no "fancies."

Our Dress Goods and Silks.

Our silk stock is now complete and buying patrons can find an extremely good choice. Plain silken fabrics are in a decided majority, being comprised of shot satins, moires and swivel changeable designs. Fancy velvets promise to be very fashionable throughout the coming season; some have come to hand, and we consider these fabrics the most exquisite that have yet been produced by Lyons weavers, as far as delicate harmony and color goes. In fancy silks the goods most fashionable as to colors are the opaline or mother of pearl shades. The combination of buff or yellow ochre with palest blue, water greens, delicate shades of mauve and Hortensia (the color of the changeable hydrangea flower.) Our stock is very elegant, and buyers will be delighted with the improvement we show.

Our dress patterns of French makes are marvels of the weaver's art. We have a large assortment in all-wool, silk and wool, and velvet and wool. We would be pleased to show you our line. We have the best the market affords.
